Robert C. Wright, M.D. | rc_wright@sbcglobal.net

“Jayson Johnson is highly flexible and creative and handles our art work for the medical book we were working on with great skill, in a timely fashion and a very reasonable price. I recommend him without reservation. He really deserves high marks for service”.

Nicolas Putnam, Project Manager - Kids Bee Smart | nicputnam@gmail.com

I have hired Jayson Johnson for many of my companies projects. He has delivered on time and above expectation every time. I will continue to hire Jayson for all of my creative projects that suit his expertise. Besides being a joy to work with, Jayson is a self motivated person who is able to present creative ideas and communicate the benefits. I highly recommend Jayson Johnson for any of your creative needs. He is a team player and would make a great asset to any organization.”

Karen Hunt, VP Sales - Francis Ford Coppola Presents | huntkaren3@gmail.com

“Besides being a joy to work with, Jayson is a team player who is able to present creative ideas and communicate them effectively. He successfully collaborated with Coppola’s in house art team on national ad campaigns, marketing tours and project launches. During his tenure, sales saw an increase in profits that exceeded and attribute the new revenue was a direct result of the plans implemented by the marketing team which Jayson Johnson was an integral part of. Though he was an asset to our marketing efforts, Jayson was also extraordinarily helpful in other areas of the company. In addition to organizing and the product catalog for the sales team, Jayson assumed a leadership role in the ‘culture club’ which aimed to raise moral while motivating other employees.”

“Jayson Johnson is a creative professional with a very strong and powerful ability to make things happen and most importantly deliver quality products and solutions.”

Bryan Avila, Winemaker & Instructor - Napa Valley College | bryan.avila1@gmail.com

“My first year at Napa Valley College I had a rosé wine that needed to get bottled but we did not yet have any artwork developed for the second label. I went over to the art department to see if anybody had experience with developing wine labels. This is when I met the talented Jayson Johnson. Clad in a captain’s hat and striped pirate socks, and beaming with creative energy, we made our introductions and Jayson said that he had already made a label for the college’s wine. Intrigued, I asked for the artwork and 2 months later, this label was printed marking the kick-off of our student label design program now nested in Paul Wagner’s marketing class. This label, accented with alternating shiny silver and purple foils captured the creative energy of the Art students of Napa Valley College. In addition, Jayson was very responsive with with making the slight changes needed to get the label compliant with COLA specifications and getting the label printed. In short, it was a pleasure working with Jayson on this project. Jayson is a talented artist with a git-er-done attitude and is just fun to work with. I recommend Jayson Johnson.”
